

Sally Ann Shamp, 63, passed away on May 15, 2021, peacefully at home after a long and courageous battle with cancer. She was surrounded by family. Sally was born February 27, 1958 in Salt Lake City, Utah and was the youngest of four children. Sally is a 1976 graduate from Spring Branch High School. In 1978, Sally married the love of her life, Darrel Shamp. As a devout Catholic, with a special devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, she spent her life dedicated to Christ. Through her vocation as a mother, she raised three children in the faith and extended her motherly grace to anyone in need. Her door was always open to anyone who needed an ear to listen or a shoulder to cry on. To all who knew her, she was an example of selflessness and generosity. During multiple battles with cancer throughout her life, Sally offered up her suffering with joy and grace. She fought hard and courageously. She was strong willed, confident, and didn't have an ounce of "quit" in her. Her greatest joy was those who called her "Grammy" and she loved to brag about her 12 grandchildren: Joey (14), Daniel (12), Mila (7), Camille (6),

Lucy (6), Dominic (5), Charlotte (4), Lucas (4), Gaby (4), Crawford (2), Vincent (2), Roman (1 month).

Sally is joyfully reunited with her mother, Mary Patricia Stolpman, and father, Paul Francis Stolpman. She is survived by her loving husband of 42 years, Darrel; three children, Joe Shamp (Margaret), Jamie Clark (Chris), Kristen Sapon (Eddie); siblings: Frank Stolpman (Nancy), Chris Mattson (Eric), Elizabeth Derr (Richard), and numerous aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews.
